Day 2 – 30 September 2014

09:00 – 10:00	Due diligence in the textile and garment sector This session is divided into sub-sessions regarding management systems and policies, risk assessments and social compliance schemes. In each session, case studies are provided on how due diligence is applied in the supply chains of the textile and garment sector. Presentations will focus on the systems put in place and challenges and opportunities related to these systems. A) Creating management systems and adopting policies Topics for this session include adopting a policy on responsible textile and garment supply chains, strengthening company management systems (e.g. building internal due diligence capacity, communicating with suppliers on due diligence, tracking and database systems for suppliers and other information on supply chains) and putting in place effective whistle-blowing or grievance mechanisms.
----------------------	--

10:00 – 11:15	B) Risk assessments and management Topics for this session include undertaking risk assessments, including how to identify risks (e.g. designing red flags or other indicators of risk, the standards used and challenges encountered), designing and implementing appropriate risk management and response systems, and cooperating with industry peers, workers or other stakeholders to identify and manage risk. This session will also reflect on approaches to third party assurance or audits of due diligence practices, and the relationship between due diligence and emerging models for social dialogue and risk management.
11:15 – 11:30	Break
11:30 – 12:30	Industrial relations: freedom of association and collective bargaining Focusing on the principles concerning industrial relations of the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the ILO Declaration on Multinational Enterprises and Social Policy, this session will discuss the challenges and opportunities in their implementation, including in the context of due diligence requirements.
12:30 – 14:00	Lunch
14:00-15:30	Fair pricing and placement of orders This session will seek to provide participants with concrete examples of how pricing and placement of orders affects working conditions of suppliers, and the risk management approaches used to identify, prevent and mitigate adverse impacts.
15:30 – 15:45	Break
15:45 – 17:00	Child labour in textile and garment supply chains This session will seek to highlight global approaches to eradicate child labour from garment supply chains, both in the production of raw materials, such as cotton, as well as garment manufacturing.
17:00- 18:00	Closing Remarks The closing remarks will summarise the main points discussed during the various sessions and solicit participants input on any next steps to be taken and the roles of the OECD and ILO in that regard.
